

 Last week was bowling for averages only *****

Welcome to WEEK 2 of bowling!

Last week only affected your averages. If you were new, you established an average. If you bowled at least 21 games last season, your ending average is used for the first NINE games you bowl. Then those first nine games are factored into your old average. This is a standard practice designed to stabilize averages for the start of a league.

The bk### next to your name is your average for last season: a "book average". Why is it called that? Because in the olden days the previous season's averages for all sanctioned leagues in the county were published in a reference book.

I am Bryan at the Front Desk. Dawn is at the Snack Bar.

Questions? Just ask.
